Option (iii): Women and MediaTime: 3 Hours

Objective: This course examines the role of media in constructing gender and its intersections with ethnicity, class and sexuality. It further considers issues of authorship, spectatorship and the ways in which various media content challenge and/or reaffirm traditional constructions of gender. It also examines the degree to which women and law control the production of gendered content.

Unit 1: Gender in Media and ICT content

Subject, frequency, quality and angle of coverage of events and issues concerning women; event-issue ratio.
The nature of language and discourse in print, film, lyrics, radio, television and advertising regarding women-oriented content; male-female power equations; public sphere-private sphere content demarcations; link with economic profitability of the media.

Unit II: Gender in Media and ICT structures

- Spaces occupied by women in the workplace hierarchy – work allocation, assignment of beats etc. based on, and limited by, sex; gender equality, gender mainstreaming, gender sensitivity and gender responsiveness at the workplace; access to decision-making/decision-making power in framing content and other workplace policies.

- Case studies of award-winning women journalists, editors, film makers, producers, social media influencers et al from the media industry.

Unit III: Reception and effects of Media and ICT usage

- Media as a negating force: endorser of stereotypes and bias; yellow journalism; self-objectification and appearance anxiety; unattainable ideals of female perfection and expectation; demonization of the feminist; impetus to a consumerist culture; selfie culture and filtered projections; social disconnectedness; impetus and naturalization of gender-based crime; voyeuristic media.

- Media as an empowering mechanism: multi-media platforms for advocacy, activism and other social/civil movements; e-commerce, e-education, e-health and e-communication platforms for access, participation and upliftment of women, particularly from marginalized and closed communities.

Unit IV:Media Theories, Ethics and Laws regarding gender portrayal

- Theories: Symbolic Annihilation (Gerbner and Tuchman); Social Learning (Bandura).

- Ethics: Sections pertaining to gender portrayal in the code of ethics moderated by the PCI, ASCI, NBDSA and IBF.

- Laws: Law of Obscenity; Indecent Representation of Women (Prohibition) Act; Restrictions and punishments under the Cable Television Networks (Regulation) Act, Cinematograph Act and Information Technology Act for obscene portrayal of women.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR PAPER SETTERS AND THE CANDIDATES

There will be 80 marks for the theory paper and 20 marks for internal assessment.
For improvement and reappear candidates, who have not been assessed earlier for internal assessment, the marks secured by them in the theory paper will proportionately be increased to maximum marks of the paper in lieu of internal assessment.

The paper setter must put note (ii) in the question paper.

There shall be 9 questions in all, out of which the candidate shall attempt 5 questions. First question shall be Short Answer type containing 15 short questions spread over the whole syllabus to be answered in about 25 to 30 words. The candidate is required to attempt any 10 short answer type questions of 2 marks each. It shall carry 20 marks and shall be compulsory. Rest of the paper shall contain 4 units. Each Unit shall have two questions and the candidate shall attempt one question from each Unit- 4 in all.
