Panjab University, Chandigarh

Interdisciplinary Centre for Swami Vivekananda Studies

Program in

Master of Arts (M.A.) in Hindu Studies (According to NEP 2020)

SYLLABUS

There has always been a need for expertise in "Hindu Studies". Such need will only grow with time, because of India's rapid emergence as an economic, military, technological, and cultural power on the global stage, and the consequential heightened interest in Hindus and their civilization. Fortunately, many reputed Indian universities are now offering a program on Hindu Studies. UGC has started conducting NET in the subject of Hindu Studies that would enhance the avenues of the candidates getting admission into the program in Hindu Studies. The Master of Arts (M.A) in Hindu Studies program fills this important gap.

WHAT WILL THE STUDENT LEARN?

A student with a M.A. degree in Hindu Studies shall:

1. Develop a good understanding of foundational principles underlying Hindu civilization, society, and culture. These principles provide a basis through which Hindus, despite the endless diversity present amongst them, can relate to each other.
2. Develop a good understanding of analytical methods through which knowledge, is analyzed and processed. These methods fall in two categories:
   a. Methods as laid out in Hindu *darśanas: Study of these methods is important as it will help the student understand Hindu conceptions of the individual, family, relationships, society, state, environment, and the entire cosmos. Further, such methods will also help them understand other societies, states, and civilizations through Bhāratīya lenses.
   b. Methods as developed in the West: The principle methods amongst these are biographical, new-historicism, formalism, psychological (both Freudian and Jungian approaches), feminist, Marxist (and critical theory) and post-colonial theory.
3. Develop a good understanding of Sanskrit, as it is in Sanskrit that an overwhelmingly large number of Hindu texts, both spiritual as well as secular, have been written. Thus, working proficiency in Sanskrit is a must for MA (Hindu Studies) program. Proficiency in an additional is also encouraged.
4. Develop a very good understanding of Hindu practices (related to the individual, family, society, and the state), and how these practices (past, as well as present) are manifestations of core Hindu foundational principles.
5. Shall acquire some expertise through electives in one or more of following areas of knowledge: history, economics, law, society, culture, politics, education, arts, ethics, literature, military, comparative religion, linguistics, and natural sciences. Such an understanding will help the student contextualize his understanding of "Hindu" in the present.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS:

All students shall be expected to take for a total of 16 courses. Each course shall have Four Credits. Of the sixteen courses, 9 courses shall be Core/ Compulsory, and the remaining 7 shall be Electives (i.e. optional). The courses will be of 100 marks- 80 marks for written semester-end examinations and 20 marks for Internal-Assessment (class-test). Admission to the course will be done as per Panjab University rules.

The student is required to select from any of the Elective course listed below in the list of the Papers proposed in the Structure of Two Year MA Program in Hindu Studies. However, Paper IX- Discipline-I in Semester II; Paper XIV-Discipline-IV in Semester-III; Paper XIX-Practices-III offers an additional option of opting One Course/Paper of 4 Credits from any allied discipline and the Departments of Panjab University with the prior permission of the Coordinator of ICSVS. The list of the allied Disciplines are as follows -
